

Free Training from

Communicating to Build Community

Friday November 20
9 am -12 pm

This training will be offered virtually via Zoom

This half-day workshop presented by Joe Brummer will focus on communicating to build community through a trauma-informed and equitable lens. We will explore the ways we use language that can cause disconnection and move to learning the tools we need to use in language to connect. Through the use of videos, group discussion, games, and activities, we will find new ways to support the building of strong communities.

Questions?
email: cmiskell@seracct.org